

IFS GLOBAL MARKETS PACSECURE

An easy entry into effective product safety and quality processes

What is IFS Global Markets PACsecure?

The IFS Global Markets PACsecure is a development program that helps packaging suppliers gradually build risk-based and optimised product safety and quality management processes and capacity. It leads you on a path towards IFS PACsecure certification on which you can set the pace and milestones together with your customers. With IFS Global Markets PACsecure, you can develop processes that enable your company to meet both legal and customer requirements step by step. At the same time, you will learn to work more efficiently and economically and lay the foundation for further growth and scalability.

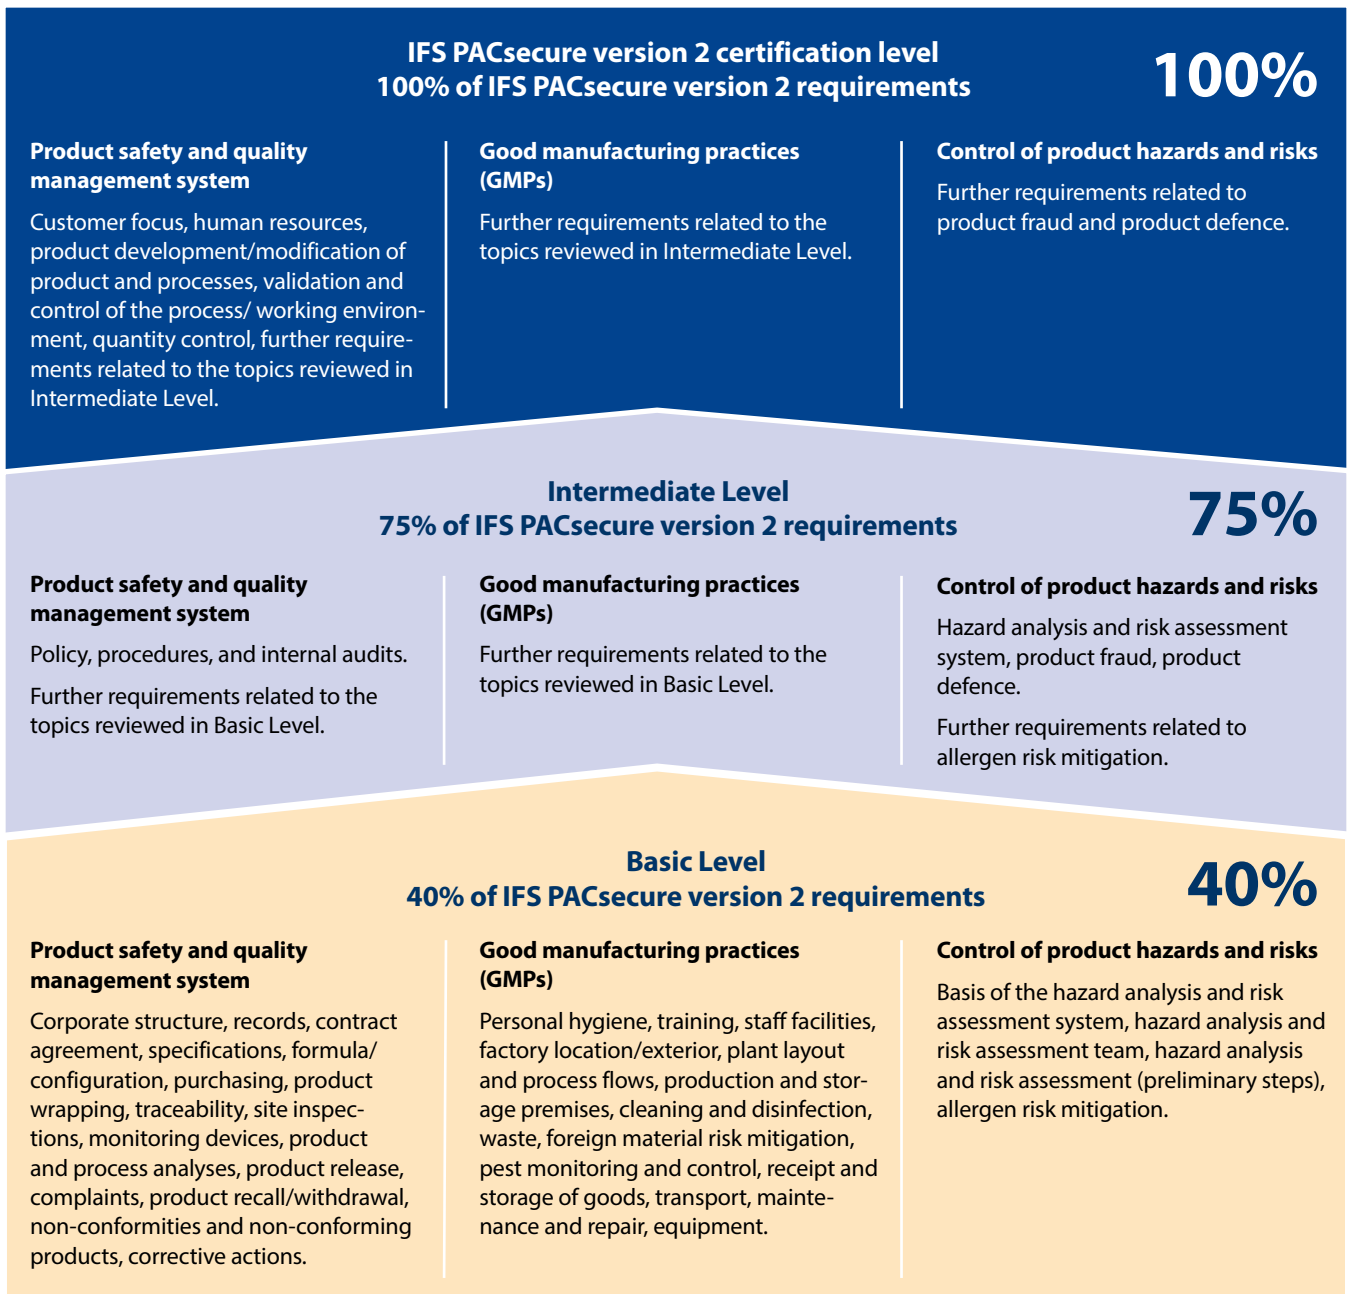

IFS Global Markets PACsecure follows a risk-based, non-prescriptive approach. It enables custom solutions that take your specific production circumstances into account. You determine the best-suited methods to control hazards and manage your risks.

The implementation and evaluation of the requirements

To implement all the IFS Global Markets PACsecure requirements and follow it permanently may sound like a challenging and mammoth task – especially for smaller companies or those not having a fully developed product safety and quality process management yet. For this reason, the program is built in steps:

- The requirements for comprehensive product safety and quality management processes are gradually introduced.
- The expected duration of each level is one year; however, the program allows flexibility in the time-frame, if it is agreed with your business partner. Within three years, you should reach the implementation of the IFS PACsecure standard requirements.
